

AMPHIBIAN SCAVENGER HUNT

Get outside and look for amphibians and their habitat with our amphibian scavenger hunt. See if you can find all of the items listed on the board. Below, we have three different boards to choose from, and some of the items can be found on a couple of boards

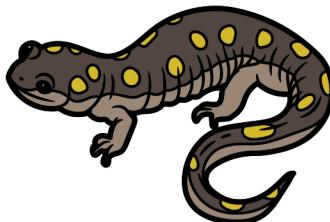

The boards contain items that can be sorted into different categories like animals, food, habitat, and sensory items.

Habitat is where animals and plants live. Amphibians live in many different types of habitats, and they usually prefer areas that are wet. One habitat type is a wetland which has water either part or all year, special soils, and particular plants that grow in wet conditions. Wetlands include diverse environments such as marshes, swamps, and bogs.

Places like logs, rocks, leaf litter, and moss can provide cover for amphibians to hide or live within. These habitat components can also provide places for amphibians to find food, too.

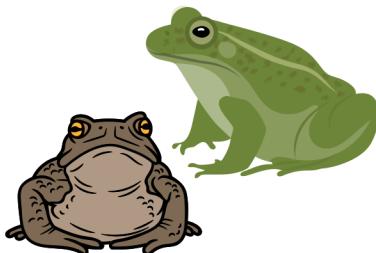

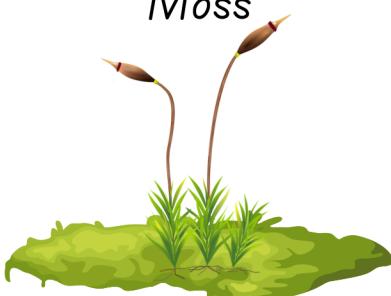

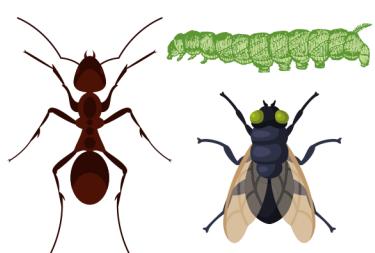

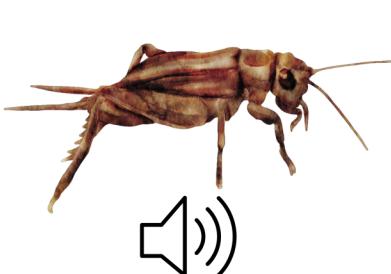

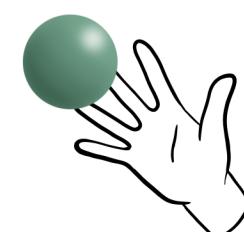

TIPS FOR POSITIVE OUTDOOR EXPERIENCES

- Prioritize safety by making sure students have proper clothing for the weather and do a safety sweep of the area in advance.
- Encourage curiosity and wonder during exploration. Use prompts such as “I wonder...”, “It reminds me of...”, “It makes me feel...”
- Stick to the trails and other marked areas to limit harming habitat.
- Encourage students to look with their eyes and not with their hands as amphibians have sensitive skin.
- Try to leave the area better than you found it.
